The Week With Alberta's Legislators

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta.: The past week has been the most intriguing and exciting that the Alberta legislature has witnessed in a long time. The ramored division in the ranks of the Social Credit members of the legislature became a reality over the budget presented by the cabinet for ratification.

A strong group of government supporters are opposed to the budget on the grounds that it is not Social Credit, and violates every principle of the new economic system as advocated by the party before the election. Efforts have been made by the critics of the budget to persuade the government to change its objectionable features and without avail, and as a result a filibuster move was inaugurated to prevent it passing the house until the desired Social Credit legislation is introduced in the house.

Thursday this opposition took on serious strength following a snap vote taken Wednesday in which for the first time on a recorded vote the government was beaten by a count of 27 to 25. On a motion to adjourn the budget debate to Thursday offered by H. K. Brown of Pembina, the premier objected and urged that the debate be continued without a stop because of the limited time at the disposal of the house. Mr. Speaker Dawson called for a vote which was apparently evenly divided and the insurgent members then ask for a recorded vote on the question with the above result.

It is likely the issue will be fought out on the floor of the house as neither side is inclined to give way and government spokesmen have intimated that if the budget is defeated the government will resign. This would mean one of two things, either the lieutenant-governor would call on some other Social Creditor to form a government or he would dissolve the legislature and another election would have to be held. It will be seen therefore that the Aberhart government is facing a crisis.

It was intimated Saturday by Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, that the government has decided to ask for the passing of temporary supply of possibly $3,000,000 with which the government can carry on while the discussion of the budget continues, should the debate be prolonged beyond Wednesday, when the financial year ends. This will prevent any hardship and enable payment of all administration costs and obligations of the regular services.

It is not clear how the crisis will end, but there are no signs of yielding on the part of the cabinet and its supporters nor the members of the Social Credit party described in the papers as "the insurgents".

It is now clear, despite the denials that have been given from time to time, that there has been considerable dissatisfaction in the rank and file of the Social Credit membership with the way the administration has been "going slow" in the matter of implementing the new financial system. There was considerable feeling over the premier's quarrel with Major C. H. Douglas in the first place and later with the refusal to cooperate with John Hargraves, the English leader in the Green Shirt movement, who visited Edmonton and offered his help

New Books at Public Library

The following list of new books are going into circulation at the Public Library today, April 2nd.

CELEBRATE 55th WED- DING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Nilsson, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at their home here last Tuesday, when a splendid was served attended by 35 guests including relatives and close friends. The afternoon was spent in visiting. This couple are parents of seven children, they have 27 grand children and 5 great grand children.

Mr. and Mrs. Nilsson are among Raymond's pioneer couple and have helped in the growth of the town during all their years here. Despite their advanced age, they are both hale and hearty, Mr. Nilsson still doing some carpenter work, and caring for his home and surroundings, and Mrs. Nilsson carrying on her housework and entertaining at times. We congratulate them on their anniversary and wish them many more years together.

NOTES FROM THE B. Y. U.

Provo, Utah, April, 1,
Students from Southern Alberta attending the B. Y. U. spent a joyous Easter, according to reports from many of them.

Stewart Grow, graduate of the College of Commerce now working on his master's degree at Washington University in Washington D. C. spent the Easter holidays with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Grow in New York, according to word received here by his mother, Mrs. Mary Grow Jacobsen, formerly of Cardston.

Several young men from Raymond and Magrath are returning home for spring work immediately after Easter according to present plans. Isaac Roberts and Leonard Watson are among the number. They all report plans for returning this fall to continue their work.

as an adviser free. The premier was said by Dr. H. K. Brown, M. L. A., during the debate Thursday to have declared that "he would play second fiddle to no man."

Altogether the situation has provided a crisis of the first rank for the Alberta government and it is difficult to say just what the outcome will be. It seems at the present time hard to see a reconciliation between the premier and those of his followers who have openly defied his authority in the legislature.

The trouble arose because a Social Credit plan with two twin bills prepared by a committee of the caucus under instructions from that body was rejected by the premier, and it looked as though another needless year was to pass before any real steps toward the establishment of the system would be taken.

This week will be a very important one in the annals of politics and government in Alberta.

Let's Put It Over BIG

At an enthusiastic and well attended meeting in the Town Hall Thursday night, it was definitely decided to stage the Dominion Playdowns between the Union Jacks and the winner of the series between Saskatchewan and Manitoba which will be played next week. Raymond's competition will either be the Winnipeg St. Andrew's or the Regina Okonoks. A committee of Lee Brewerton, Dr. F. M. Hall, Lloyd McPhee and S. I. May was appointed to organize the advertising and ticket sale with power to call whoever they want to assist them. Tickets are going on sale today at 50c per game or the two games for $1. Get yours while the selection is good.

The personnel of the Jacks were never in better shape physically than they are this year. They have put in a strenuous year in practise and are hard as nails. Then too, every man on the team is raring to go, and when the visitors come here they can depend on plenty of opposition.

Now it is up to Mr. John Citizen to take up these tickets and make this series a success financially and otherwise. Our Jacks are certainly entitled to the opportunity of showing us all just how good they are, and the committees in charge of the playdowns have faith enough in you collectively and as individuals that they are bringing the team here to see who goes on to Vancouver. Dig up and get your tickets and put this over.

WEDDING BELLS

KENNEDY — ROBERTS

A wedding of interest was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kennedy, when Miss Margaret King Roberts, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts of Raymond, became the bride of Mr. Douglas Francis Kennedy, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kennedy of Lethbridge.

Rev. J. M. Pritchard performed the ceremony, which took place between an archway banked with palms, ferns, and Easter Lilies.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Hildur Sandquist, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was radiant in a gown of white satin fashioned on Princess lines, and showing a slight train. The bodice featured a high neckline, and the small stand-up collar was fastened at the throat with a of pearls, which began the line of buttons that extended down to the hem. The sleeves with fullness at the shoulders, were finished with peplum cuffs at the wrists. She wore a full length bridal veil and carried a bouquet of Easter Lilies. The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Gordon Kennedy. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left by motor for Great Falls.

NEWS NOTES

The merchant who says his business isn't worth advertising should advertise it for sale.

The Union Jacks took the second game of the Alberta Championship series in Edmonton last Saturday night, by a score of 26-44. Congratulations boys. This gave the local team a nice lead over the Golden Bears.

"The Princess Bonnie" was presented again Monday night to a packed house. The performers and audience all seemed to be on their toes, and the evening as a decided success from start to finish. A nice collection was made.

Stake Priesthood Meeting Is Held

Regular Stake Priesthood meeting was held Sunday, Mar. 28th, the regular business of the meeting being transacted. Quarterly Conference was announced for Saturday and Sunday, April 24th and 25th next.

Miss Velma Nalder had two girls' choruses present and the Wellington ward furnished a number. Proficiency wards were made to the Deacon's Quorums of the two Raymond wards and the two Teachers Quorums of the Raymond 2nd ward.

Pres. H. F. Allen regretted the attitude of many farmers in giving up their land, and asked J. W. Evans to speak on the abuse of relief in Canada. In his remarks the speaker cited ex amples of what had been done by many people here during the depression in paying for their lands and holdings even during that time, while other people right by the side of them had accepted relief month after month and spent their time talking about how hard the times were. He urged everyone to plan now to get off relief and stay off and lift this stigma from the people of the church and the district.

E. P. Tanner spoke briefly on the proposed Woollen mill and John T. Steele of the Stake Genealogical Committee spoke regarding Temple attendance and the new plan that is to be inaugurated.

Special B. of T. Meeting Monday

SHALL WE HAVE A HOSPITAL

(Editorial)

Frequently we hear people regretting the fact that we have no Hospital in Raymond. There are several disadvantages in the fact, that at times are decidedly unpleasant. With roads and weather we have had during the past winter, we were fortunate indeed that no deaths occurred from having no accommodations for the care of hospital cases in Raymond.

Then too, our Doctor makes a trip nearly every day to the Hospital to see patients there who need his attention. During these visits we are left without a Doctor, and in case of a serious accident or unexpected sickness may result seriously. Then too, there are many cases which should be taken care of in the Hospital, but transportation and finances prevent it and illnesses are at times prolonged, and sometimes never cured, because the proper facilities cannot be obtained.

These are merely a few of the disadvantages of having no Hospital here. A great deal may be said, and likely entirely true, in favor of the present arrangements. These observances are not made in a spirit of fault finding of the Lethbridge Hospitals, where Raymond people have received the best of treatment for many years. This fact however does not remove the unpleasant features of the situation, and to those who need special treatment obtainable only in Hospitals, the financial side of the question is gigantic.

With the population we have here, coupled with the residents south of town, Welling and possibly Magrath, it appears that a Municipal scheme of some sort could be worked out where for a small additional tax per year, a small Hospital could be operated to advantage, and to the decided benefit of local residents. We have the School of Agriculture which could be fitted out exceptionally well for a Hospital without a great deal of expense, and we believe that in as much as the Provincial Govt. is interested in health units that co-operation could be obtained from that source as far as possible.

Before either Town or Municipality would care to take any steps in this matter it is certain they would like to know how the people felt. Make use of these columns to air your views if you choose, and let's have some ideas as to how and what to do. Nothing ventured, nothing gained. If we are to get ahead we must take opportunity by the forelock. Is this the time

CHECKER GAME STILL ON AT EDMONTON

The checker game between Premier Aberhart and his cabinet and the insurgents at Edmonton is still carrying on. The Premier refuses to resign, desiring that the insurgents take the blame for forcing him out. They on the other hand want him to resign. Very little changes have taken place during the last 48 hours.

Recall proceedings against three members were said to have been started, but the members disclaimed any knowledge of this. Interest of all Albertans centres in the uprising in the Edmonton house.

A special Board of Trade meeting is being held Monday night at 8 p. m. in the Town Hall. The matter of the Stampede and our co-operation with Cardston in her jubilee celebration must be decided that night. As a citizen of the Town you are interested in this matter, and whether a member of the Board of Trade or not, will you accept this invitation and be present.

A delegation is expected to be present from Cardston to confer with us on the co-operation question, and officials like a good crowd present to discuss the matter. It is also the election of officers for the ensuing year, so you should be present to pick the men you want to run your Board of Trade for the coming year. Remember 8 p. m., Monday April 5th, at the Town Hall.

NEWS NOTES

Louis Brandley was in Lethbridge Tuesday afternoon on business in connection with the Beet Grower's Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Olsen and family of Glenwood are living in Raymond now, Clark being employed as engineer on the Municipal District road engine this summer. They are living in the D. F. Fawns home.

Sunday night was Missionary night in the Raymond 2nd ward with District president Earl Scoville in charge. Speakers were: Elders Floyd Litchfield, T. W. Meldrum and Pres. T. Geo. Wood. A nice program of musical numbers was rendered and the big audience thoroughly enjoyed the program.

WEDDING BELLS

ROMERIL — PAYNE

The wedding was solemnized on Thursday last at the Alberta Temple, Cardston, of Frederick W. Romeril, Raymond, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Tomeril, and Miss Hilda Payne, Mountain View, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Payne. Pres. Edw. J. Wood performed the ceremony in the presence of parents of both contracting parties and a few friends.

The young couple left after the ceremony for a holiday trip to Vancouver and other Pacific coast points, and on their return they will set up housekeeping at the Romeril ranch near Mountain View, where the groom has been working for some summers past. The best wishes of their many friends is extended to them for their happiness and success in their married life.

The bride is a popular young lady of the Mountain View district, and spent last year at the B. Y. U. in Provo. Early in Mar. she was chosen Queen of the Mountain View M. I. A. to contest the remainder of the Stake for the Stake crown. She is interested in Basketball and has been a member of the Mountain View Girls team for some time.

The groom is well known and highly respected locally. He has helped his father in the operation of their farm south of town, and has been a successful apiarist for a number of years. About two years ago the father and son traded some land here for a section in the foothills near Mountain View, and the groom has transferred most of his interests to this location recently.

ELIMINATING ONE OF THE WORST FEARS

(By John Edwin Price)

"Oh, God, Forgive Me! Oh! God! Oh my God!" She was a screaming maniac. She would probably be properly called a religio-maniac. Unfortunately there are quite a number of them in our hospitals. And yet, people should not allow themselves to get to the point of being so afraid of the Over-ruining Spirit whom Jesus taught us to call "Our Father."

Right away someone asks, "Are we not told that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom?"

Yes, that is true and there are many, many other Bible sayings having to do with the fear of God, some of them apparently very harsh as Matthew 10:28, "And fear not them which kill the body, but are unable to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell."

In regard to this passage it is to be noted that it does not say God will destroy, but is able.

All such statements are to be read in the light of the theme-song of the Bible which is: "God is Love." It's chorus, which repeated 156 times is: "His mercy endureth forever."

This theme song is clarified in its meaning by such phrases as are found in the 12th Chapter of Hebrews: "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth. No chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous; nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness."

When God's punishments (so-called) are seen to be for this purpose, then calamitous fear of God subsides. A friend of mine who has made a life long study of the scriptures and their sources says that the word "fear" when referring to deity might better have been translated "reverential awe."

"Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him." Moreover, if we ask His pardon, "He is faithful to forgive us." "He knoweth our frame, he remembereth that we are as dust." "True it is that, 'As a man soweth, likewise shall he reap.' The purpose of allowing us as individuals to reap thorns and thistles is that we may learn to sow for a good harvest."

If God hadn't cared about making sure that we have a chance at the good things of life here and hereafter he would not have sent his "Beloved Son."

When rasping fears make precious static in the soul how comforting the thought: While we were yet sinners Christ died for us." How good also to remember: "Whosoever cometh unto me I will in nowise cast out."

Calamitous fear of God then changes into reverential awe when we realize that all of the chastenings we endure are for our eventual good. If he inspired his son to teach us to forgive our enemies 70 times 7, to forgive them and do good unto them, he cannot do less. He who inspired the Christ to relate the stories of the Lost Coin, the Lost Sheep and the Prodigal Son must himself be a "Christ-like God."

Then let us eliminate all fear as ordinarily thought of, save the useful ones of fearing to do wrong and the fear of being afraid.

RECREATION MUST BE RE-CREATION

Moderation, Invigoration, Enjoyment, Should be a Main Rule

The increasing amount of leisure available for recreation makes this question increasingly important. We all have an equal amount of one thing as long as we live. That is time. How that time is invested makes for growth or decay, happiness or sorrow, success or failure. More than from any other part of the day's time these results come about from the use of leisure. Leisure is that time not spent in sleep or required activity. It is our recreation time. Does our use of it recreate us? It does if—

1. It differs from the daily round.
2. It provides for our active participation.
3. It rests overworked muscles and nerves.
4. It can be shared by all, old and young, and both sexes.
5. It neither brutalizes men nor shames women.
6. It gives an opportunity for self expression.
7. It satisfies mental, physical, and spiritual needs.
8. It does not become the end of existence.
9. It is partly spent in the

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. L. Strange)

IMPROVE QUALITY! KEEP DOWN COSTS OF PRODUCTION

These should be the watchwords for Western Canadian farmers, for all who are their friends, and who are, therefore, keenly interested in the farmers' welfare.

Very definite, and, it would seem, successful efforts are being made not only to maintain, but to improve wheat quality; but how about reducing costs of production? Unfortunately very little in this direction is being done yet the reduction of costs is just as important as the improvement of quality—Can costs be reduced, or at all events stopped from rising still further?

It will not be easy, but I for one believe it can be done, even though costs of production actually are now rising as revealed by the Searle Index which keeps account, month by month, of the costs of the things farmers buy.

More will be said in later articles about methods to be adopted to reduce costs. In the meantime anything that will increase the yield per acre will definitely help. The use of Leytasan and Ceresan for treatment against smut and root rot diseases, also the use of fertilizer, which increases yield and brings about earlier maturity, are splendid ways of reducing costs of production.

Following factors have tended to raise prices: Japan, Mexico and Greece purchase Argentine wheat—Italy purchases still more Argentine and Roumanian wheat—Germany and Great Britain continue to buy Argentine, Turkish Australian, Indian wheat—Spain purchases wheat—Inclement weather jeopardizes crop prospects in India—Grasshoppers causing concern in Australia—French franc falling in value.

Following factors have tended to lower price: First official Indian rice estimate larger than year ago—German bakers must put seven percent corn meal in all wheat bread—Weather seasonable and present moisture supplies sufficient in Australia—Supplies of Danubian wheat and rye still substantial with navigation—about to reopen—India preparing to make substantial wheat exports.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES...AND THEIR BANK

THE FOREST INDUSTRIES

The forest area of Canada on which there is timber of merchantable size is larger than the total area of France and Germany combined; the standing timber on this is estimated at 274 billion cubic feet. An area of even greater extent is covered with young growth.

This vast reservoir of wood is the source from which Canada drew wealth in excess of $110,000,000 in 1934 (the latest figures available) in the form of primary products such as:

- raw material for saw-mills, pulp mills, wood distillation, charcoal plants;
- logs, pulpwood, bolts, etc., for export,
- firewood, railroad ties, posts, poles, fence rails, mining timbers;
- maple sugar, balsam gum, resin, cascara, tanbark, moss, etc.

The total value of manufactured products made principally from raw materials of forest origin was $404,435,948. Forest products in 1936 afforded an excess of exports over imports—$158,560,000—very important to Canada's international trade.

The Bank of Montreal has co-operated with every activity of the forest industries—assisting in every phase of production and marketing. The Bank has had the privilege of financing a large share of the export business of these industries. Thousands of workers are depositors, sharing in the safety and facilities of the Bank with their employing companies.

Some of the Bank's services most frequently used by employers and employees in the forest trades: Commercial accounts, foreign currency accounts; financing of shipments; commercial loans and discounts; collections; trade and credit information, safekeeping of securities; savings accounts; personal loans, money orders; travellers cheques; banking by mail.

WEEKLY LETTER

It may appear to some that the question of soil drifting is being treated too frequently in the weekly letters sent out from the Dominion Experimental Station in Lethbridge. No apology is being offered, however, nor will there be as long as the tremendous wastage of soil continues that now occurs with every windstorm because of the lack of proper application of known methods to combat this problem.

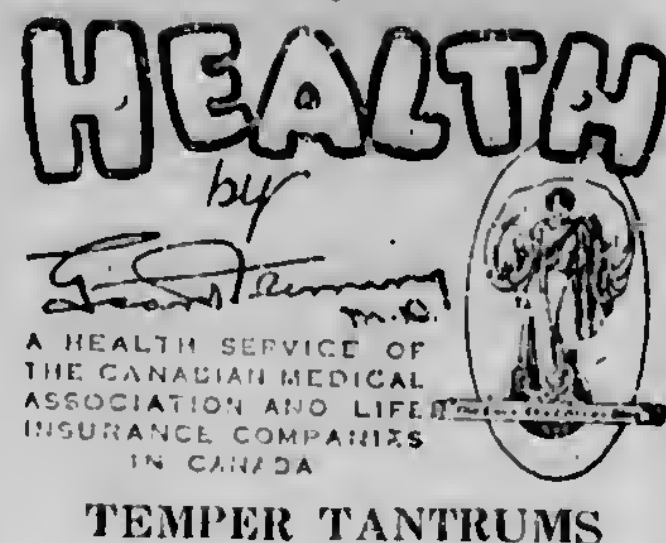

At a recent meeting held in Calgary, that was attended by a number of the agricultural investigators and farmers who are carefully studying farm problems, the statement was made by a member of the Experimental Station staff that "There is no soil drifting problem so severe that it cannot be controlled if proper steps are taken." While this assertion was quite positive, it was not questioned by anyone present simply because almost everyone there has had experience in handling extremely difficult drifting conditions and their success has given them confidence that they could meet almost any such situation that would arise.

One statement made by a farmer who operates successfully on an extensive basis is quite significant. He said that he made it a practise, wherever possible, to leave a straw pile on each section of land to use for scattering lightly over any part of the field that showed signs of starting to drift. This not only brings to mind the value of straw for stopping drifting that may start, but also the necessity for preparing for eventualities. This farmer also stated that he did not require much straw to stop soil from drifting especially where scattering was begun before much of the soil started to move.

This again illustrates a fundamental situation, namely: that many of the control practices that are being recommended are not difficult nor expensive. For example, it may not cost any more to conduct a ploughless fallow and leave a good trash cover to protect the soil than it does to cover up the trash by faulty methods and leave the soil exposed. Usually it is just a matter of the method of manipulation of machinery which may require a little study and forethought and perhaps a visit to a neighbour who has already found out how to properly do this kind of work. It may require less mental activity to conduct a bare ploughed fallow than a ploughless fallow simply because we have had more experience with this method, but the ploughed fallow in most cases requires a greater expenditure of power and is usually in danger of drifting.

These are just a few illustrations of the fact that soil drifting control in most cases is a matter of applying methods that have been quite well worked out with this in mind it does seem that the amount of drifting that is still permitted is not justified.

"My boy has tantrums; if he doesn't get his own way he screams and kicks. One day he held his breath until I thought he would die. Nothing I can do to stop them is any good except giving in to him. Then he gets up in a second and is as sweet as he can be."

There is the whole story in a nutshell. These attacks or temper tantrums as we call them always come on after the child has been refused something or ordered to do something he does not want to do. They are more frequent if he is tired by too much nagging or not enough sleep. They keep on because he has found out that he can get his own way by yelling loudly enough or if the worst comes to the worst by holding his breath until he turns blue.

Every child has one or two temper tantrums at some time or another. To prevent frequent temper tantrums, see that the child is not kept on edge. He should have regular meals, plenty of sleep, with an afternoon nap, and healthy play with other children. When his first tantrum occurs just remember if he does not get his own way he will soon stop.

When these tantrums are well established, we must learn the way to treat them. There are two things to remember: First, that no harm ever occurs to the child in one, and, second that the best thing to do is to pay absolutely no attention to the child. Just walk into another room until the tantrum is over. Say nothing about it later and never give in to the child because of a tantrum. If you keep up this simple treatment, the child will stop because he won't hold a tantrum for the exercise

Prof. Barnhart Believes In Paper Advertising

"Newspaper advertising builds confidence and good will, attracts new customers, increases sales, and stabilizes merchandise, methods and prices." So says Prof. Thomas F. Barnhart of the University of Minnesota.

He has given the matter considerable thought. From his experience and observations he has come to 14 definite conclusions.

1. Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.
2. A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.
3. The newspaper advertisement, as part of the complete paper, goes into the home as a welcome guest.
4. The newspaper advertisement can have as much reader interest and news value as the news items.
5. The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of space.
6. Newspaper advertising is flexible.
7. Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.
8. Newspaper advertising may be adjusted to different conditions.
9. Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers and dealers to state where their products may be bought.
10. Newspaper advertising is inexpensive. Merchants have learned that it covers more families for less money than any other form of advertising.
11. Newspaper advertising results may be checked.
12. Newspaper circulation is known and is comparatively unaffected by daily change.
13. Nearly all of a newspaper's circulation is concentrated in its own market.
14. Newspaper advertising reduces selling costs because it entails no waste circulation. This helps reduce costs for the consumer.

SEED CLEANING IMPORT- ANT FARM JOB

Many natural and uncontrollable risks may be taken in producing crops. There are, however, many factors that enter into crop production which are controllable. Among these is the preparation of grain for seed. This is a farm job that can usually be done during the five months after threshing in the fall to within one month of seed in the spring. When cleaning and grading of seed is left until the busy seeding time, the work is sometimes rushed; and consequently not so carefully done. Best results are obtained when the capacity of the seed cleaning and grading machines is not overtaxed. Many machines do much better work when they are operated considerably under their commercially rated capacities. It seems to be a good plan to have the work of preparing seed done when the weather is favorable, and at least one month before seeding.

There are three main reasons for cleaning seed, namely, the removal of weed seeds; to retain well developed seed of high vitality, and to have seed of uniform size and freedom from obstructions. The annual loss due to weed seeds is very great. Where soil moisture becomes more limited, the control of weed growth becomes more essential. Noxious weeds, especially those which are likely to be introduced on farms where they are not yet prevalent, should be removed.

With regard to retaining well developed seeds of high vitality, plump seeds of strong vitality may endure adverse growing conditions because of the strong or seedlings which are supported by the greater food reserves of the well developed seed. Uniformity of seed is important. Uniform seed free from awns, hoods, and inert material will run through the drill cups freely. Seed which can be delivered through the drill with the highest degree of regularity is more evenly spaced in the drill rows in the ground and is thus able to compete more effectively

Magrath High School and the Lethbridge Collegiate are meeting on the Opera House floor tonight in the final game to decide the Alberta High School Championship in Basketball for 1936-37. These two teams have been just about even all year and a real battle may be expected tonight when they clash for a crown. Preliminary at 8 p. m. sharp. Dance afterwards.

Mrs. Clarence Bowden returned Sunday from Calgary where she has been visiting her husband who is in the Hospital there. He is taking treatment for his hand which was injured last summer at Picture Butte and has not healed very well. She states that the Doctors there are hopeful of restoring the injured member to normalcy.

NEWS NOTES

Every man is important in his own estimation at least.

The 3 or 4 inches of wet snow that fell Tuesday night was very welcome as it will soak right into the ground, there having been no wind with it at all.

Cars Tuesday and Wednesday were rapidly being docked out with the new license plates as the 1st of April approached. No days of grace this year at all.

The greater part of the time Sunday morning was taken up with a program which was interesting and entertaining. Splendid programs were rendered in both Raymond wards.

Pres. and Mrs. T. Geo. Wood left Tuesday afternoon for Utah and the Pacific coast states. While away they will attend the Annual Conference of the L. D. S. Church in Salt Lake City.

The Municipal road outfit is at work today on the Welling road, and by night will have the worst of the holes filled up and the rough places cut down some. It will take a lot of work to put this piece of road in shape again.

The presidency and secretary of the first ward Y. M. M. I. A. with their partners attended the Temple Sessions at Cardston Thursday afternoon. The roads were not very good and about two hours were spent both going and coming.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Webster who spent the winter in Washington, returned to Raymond last week, and are busy now preparing for a trip to England. They don't know whether they will arrive in time for the coronation or not, but they are making the trip just the same.

Drumheller was visited by a $400,000 fire Saturday night when flames which started in a garage spread to the large Whitehouse hotel and completely destroyed it. The City Council ordered an investigation into the matter.

The Lethbridge Herald suggested editorially Wednesday that the unemployed in that city who are asking for an increase in their relief allowances should look to Premier Wm. Aberhart and his Cabinet for the fulfillment of the fine promises made to them during the election campaign in 1935.

O. H. Snow and his passengers met with a minor accident while on their way to Salt Lake. Going over Monida summit the road was only clear on one side, and they collided with another car, both cars being damaged somewhat but none of the passengers hurt. Mr. Snow's car continued onto Salt Lake on its own power.
